

M. Brian Blake, PhD

Executive Vice President and Provost
Professor of Computer Science
Concurrent Professor of Electrical and Computer Engineering
George Washington University

CAREER SUMMARY

Dr. Blake is Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost at George Washington University. As the highest-ranking academic officer, he oversees all academic programs across the 10 schools and colleges, 3 campuses, and 28,000 students. Dr. Blake was hired to lead the University's new enrollment strategy to rescale and reconfigure the entering class in context of the changing student demographics in the Northeast and Nation. Dr. Blake continues to successfully lead the academic enterprise of GW through the Nation's COVID-19 pandemic and currently spearheading a university-wide plan to assess new innovations in pedagogy and teaching modalities in a post-COVID world.

Prior to GWU, Dr. Blake served as Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs and Nina Henderson Provost at Drexel University overseeing their 14 schools and colleges and over 25,000 students. Provost Blake led the implementation of a responsibility-centered management (RCM) budget model across all the schools and colleges and led, on behalf of the President, the implementation of the University's Strategic Plan. As Provost, Dr. Blake led the development of an academically focused strategic vision entitled "Creating the 21st Century Academic Experience". Under Blake's academic oversight, Drexel maintained its Top 100 ranking by having its largest, most academically gifted freshman class, the University's highest retention rate, the highest overall research activity in history leading to the University's first-ever Carnegie Classification as a R1 Doctoral University: Very High Research Activity as well as a significant increase in the enrollment of professional master students. During his first 4 years, he oversaw the hire of 11 Deans and over 100 faculty while significantly increasing the diversity of administrative offices. Blake's leadership of academic space planning resulted in new facilities for the College of Computing and Informatics, the School of Education, the College of Nursing and Health Professions, and a new College of Medicine Branch Campus (Reading, PA). Blake oversaw the creation of several contemporary centers, including the Fabric Discovery Center, the Weight, Eating, and Lifestyle Science (WELL) Center, and the University's new Teaching and Learning Center. In 2017, Blake was named the Nina Henderson Provost which recognized and enabled his central programs that enhance interdisciplinary initiatives across the institution. He conceived innovative interdisciplinary programs such as Drexel Areas of Research Excellence (DARE) and Market-Driven Academic Program Ventures (MPV) which enhanced research and graduate education, respectively. These programs facilitated over 65 interdisciplinary research teams and 25 new interdisciplinary degree program proposals. He oversaw the creation of the Drexel Business Solutions Institute and the Experiential Edge program which extended Drexel's mission for experiential learning. To intentionally involve students and faculty within the strategic academic planning, Dr. Blake conceived and led the creation of a new student advisory group (Dragon'24) to enhance the climate for all students on campus. Blake also initiated a Provost's Fellows program that created 18 positions in the Office of the Provost to work on strategic areas to enhance the academic mission. InsPIR (Innovations in Pedagogy: Implementation and Reflection) is another program that encourages grassroots planning activities to develop next-generation pedagogical approaches. Provost Blake oversaw the establishment of a new Graduate College and an initiative to increase and resituate the professional Master programs in the evolving Northeast market. Provost Blake led the academic strategy and vision that overlays Drexel University's urban renewal initiative and public-private partnerships to bring innovation to West Philadelphia, the ($3.5 Billion, 14 acre) Schuylkill Yards. As a part of his efforts, he served on the Science Center-Philadelphia Advisory Board, Academy of Natural Sciences Trustee Board, the IEEE Computer Society Board of Governors, Georgia Tech's College of Computing Advisory Board, George Mason's Volgenau School of Engineering Advisory Board, and as a trustee of the Springside-Chestnut Hill Academy. He formerly served on the Advisory Boards of Graduate Records Exam (GRE) and the Opportunities Industrialization Center (OIC-Philadelphia).

Prior to Drexel, Dr. Blake was Vice Provost for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Graduate School at the University of Miami. As Dean of the Graduate School, he had oversight and advocacy of university-wide graduate programs (including the Medical campus) consisting of over 155 programs housed in 12 schools and colleges comprised of more than 5700 students. As Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, Dr.

Blake had special responsibilities for the advocacy, enhancement, and policy matters regarding research programs for disciplines on the Coral Gables campus including Architecture, Arts and Science, Business, Communication, Education and Human Development, Engineering, Law, Music, and Nursing. Also as Vice Provost, he oversaw university-wide faculty enhancement and diversity efforts with respect to initiatives for faculty recruitment, hiring, retention & promotion, and equity.

During his term at the University of Miami, Dr. Blake was cited by a “Resolution of Tribute” issued by the Board of Trustees to have universally elevated the visibility of graduate education and significantly enhanced the environment for faculty success at the University of Miami. In three years, the Graduate School reinvented its research-oriented and professional development programs. The creation of the Dean’s Prestigious Fellowship Program, First-Year Research Guide, Fellowship Writing and Review Initiative (FWRI), and Distinguished Scholar/Mentor Lecture Series all helped to jumpstart the students’ research careers and greatly increased applications to and awards of external fellowships and recognitions. A strategic initiative, Research Intersections, was created to promote and facilitate interdisciplinary research combining STEM fields and the humanities and arts. UGrow, a partnership between the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School, was created to help develop PhD students in the humanities to be prepared for alternative careers beyond academia. During his term in his capacity of Vice Provost, the Office of the Vice Provost for Academic Affairs (OVPAA) institutionalized a new office, SEEDS, that focuses on climate and faculty retention. In a three-year period, OVPAA oversaw the hire of 7 tenured/tenure track Black faculty which, at the time, was over 20% of the original population of Black faculty. Blake oversaw the creation of the LeadershipU Academy, a year-long enrichment program to foster new academic leaders within the faculty body. Finally, Blake led the Presidential Task Force and university response for the climate challenges associated with the national issues generally associated with the #BlackLivesMatter movement.

At the University of Notre Dame, Dr. Blake was the Associate Dean for Research & Graduate Studies and Professor of Computer Science and Engineering from 2009-2012. He provided oversight for research programs and graduate studies in the College of Engineering. During his term, the College of Engineering had record increases (~100%) in research awards and expenditures and the graduate program grew by over 30%. During his term, he led the creation of new recruitment programs, NDSynergy, NDCConnect and NDCConnection, that engaged potential PhD applicants at a targeted group of peer and aspirational institutions. Prior to Notre Dame, he was on the faculty of Georgetown University where he served as Chair of the Department of Computer Science. He was chair and director of graduate studies during the inaugural years of university’s first graduate program in computer science. He also orchestrated several STEM initiatives including a new professional Master program in Technology Management and collaborative efforts with the Departments of Biostatistics and Radiology, both in the Medical School.

As a Professor, Dr. Blake has appointments in the Department of Computer Science and Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering. He has served as advisor or co-advisor to 15 postdoctoral fellows and graduate students and more than 30 undergraduate researchers. He has authored or co-authored over 200 journal articles, books/book chapters, and refereed conference/workshop papers. He is most known for his contributions to the areas of adaptive, inter-organizational workflow for web-based services and systems. Dr. Blake has served on 5 National Academies’ studies or committees and on the National Science Foundation’s Advisory Committee for the Computer and Information Science and Engineering (CISE) Directorate. He is Editor-in-Chief of IEEE Internet Computing, former Associate Editor of IEEE Transactions on Service Computing, and Editor-in-Chief of a Springer book series entitled Web-Scale Workflow and Analytics. He has served as general/program chair/co-chair for over 10 research conferences in his specialty. Dr. Blake’s scholarly activities have been funded by more than $12 million in sponsored research awards from various government and commercial organizations (e.g. AFRL, AFOSR, DARPA, Department of Education, FAA, NIH, NSF, IBM, MITRE, and SAIC). In industry, Dr. Blake spent 6 years prior to joining academia working as a software architect, technical lead, and expert developer with General Electric, Lockheed Martin, General Dynamics, and The MITRE Corporation. Concurrent with his faculty appointment, he has continued as an expert-level systems consultant in the intersection of information technology and software engineering supporting the Federal Aviation Administration, the Department of Justice, the Department of Defense, and several legal firms. Dr. Blake is an ACM Distinguished Scientist and a Sr. Member of the IEEE.

REFEREED SOFTWARE SYSTEMS DEMONSTRATIONS AND DEVELOPMENT

Blake, M.B. "WARP: Workflow Automation through Agent-Based Reflective Processes ", Proceedings at the 5th International Conference on Autonomous Agents, ACM Press, Montreal, Canada, May 2001 (software demonstration)

This multi-agent architecture coordinates a workflow consisting of distributed components. The architecture accepts workflow specification in the Unified Modeling Language (UML) as Rational Rose Model Files. The workflow specifications must be captured using WARP-specific semantics and models. These models are translated into XML-based instructions for use by the WARP agents.
